CHEERFUL WORDS

For Many a Norway Household
To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed—to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove helpful to hundreds of Norway readers.

Mrs. Myrtle Payne, 287 Main St., Norway, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and am thoroughly satisfied they are a dependable remedy. I had more or less pain across my back and kidneys. It annoyed me very much and when stooping and lifting, I felt it more. I found Doan's Kidney Pills good for the trouble and after I used this remedy the pains lessened. I have been practically free from the trouble since and I feel the remedy deserves my recommendation." (Statement given June 7, 1916.)

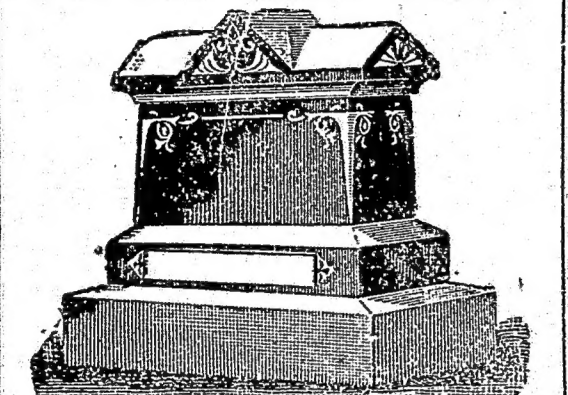

On September 3, 1920, Mrs. Payne said: "I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as highly today as I have during several years past. The great good they did me has lasted and my faith in the remedy has remained firm."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Payne had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

THE JUST-AS-GOOD-AS MAN

When I would buy a cake of soap that's suited to my mind
I much prefer the man who keeps the "just-as-good-as" kind.
In breakfast foods, and potted meats and sar-

The kind I want I want, despite the "just-as-good-as" man.

same part upon the sphere again until that

OXFORD
The drama given by local talent for the benefit of the T. A. Roberts W. R. O. was a great success; all the parts were finely taken and the audience present filled Robinson hall to its fullest capacity. Much praise was heard from all for the fine manner in which the performers took their parts.

The remains of Mrs. Kate Hanscom were brought here from Boston last week for burial. Mrs. Hanscom was the widow of Orlington Hanscom who was connected with the Boston police force for many years. The funeral was on Wednesday of last week at her summer home on Lake Street, burial in the family lot in Riverside Cemetery. She leaves a son Arthur who resides in Oxford, and a daughter, Mrs. Otto Pierce of Winchester, Mass.

Charles Y. Francis, who has been confined to his home for several weeks by illness, is improving.
At the close of the evening service at the Methodist Church on Sunday, Jan. 15th, a quarterly conference was held by Rev. D. B. Holt, district superintendent. The reports of the work for the conference year were very good, especially the Sunday school secretaries and treasurers. The Ladies' Circle and church treasurer, also report of the different classes engaged in church work. It was the wish of all present that Bro. Joslin continue to serve as pastor.

HAD JUST ABOUT LOST ALL HOPE

After Suffering Six Years He Takes Tanlac and Troubles End—Wife
Also Benefited

"When I saw what Tanlac was doing for my wife, I started taking it too, and today we are both in as good health as we ever were," said Edward U. Clark of Hermon, Maine.

"For five or six years I had been bothered with rheumatism and stomach trouble. The rheumatism had pulled me down until I felt I was just about gone. My back hurt nearly all the time and many a day I couldn't hold out at work and had to quit and go home. I was sleepless at night and that made me weak and all run down. What I ate always soured and caused gas and bloating and terrible pains and at times my heart would palpitate something awful.

"My wife was getting such fine results from Tanlac that I started taking it myself and today I can't tell I ever had the rheumatism. My stomach never gives me a sign of trouble and I am eating anything set before me. I sleep like a top and when morning comes I am up and ready for work."

"My wife looks better in every way, can do her housework with ease and says she feels stronger than she has in years."

Tanlac is sold by A. L. Clark Drug Co., Norway; Stowell Bros., Locke's Mills; R. E. Pinkham, East Waterford; W. H. Brown, East Stoneham; Heald, Stearns & Kimball, Lovell; H. L. Hutchins Co., North Fryeburg; L. R. Rounds & Co., Waterford, and P. G. Barrett, Welchville, Me.

This is a distinctly patriotic organization as only blood kin relatives of the soldiers of the Civil War are eligible to join and their names and eligibility have to pass the test of the State Adjutant General before being recorded in Washington. The day is not far distant when this will be a most exclusive organization and many are just learning that fact.

JOSEPH ANDREWS VISITS MAINE

One of the most prosperous and successful farmers of West Fryeburg is Dean A. Ballard, my nephew with whom I visited several days. Dean was not well but he did not have time to be sick, so he was busy every hour of the day, helping the hired help to finish up his hay. His family consists of Alice, his youngest daughter, who is a student at the Academy, and Ida Ballard, Thompson, wife of Perley, Thompson. I understood that Ida was to be housekeeper and Perley the hired man until Alice finishes her education, then Perley and wife will move into their own cozy home, the Burbank house.

Mr. Ballard has served his native town faithfully for many years. He served nine years as one of the selectmen, served one or more terms in the Legislature, and at least one term as County Commissioner. The Political Bee does not buzz in Dean's ear. He prefers to be a private citizen and when his friends insisted in keeping him in office, he told them that if they elected him he positively would not qualify and that settled it. Dean has been very fortunate in many ways. Five of his children are married and all have good homes of their own, and all live within three miles of the old homestead farm and he is the proud grandfather of 21 grandchildren, while over at the village and within the three mile limit, he has a sister-in-law and three nieces and at Swans Falls a nephew Horace Ballard, who with his wife have a fine family of 11 bright children. Financially, Dean has prospered well, "both in basket and in store."

The little seedling, sapling pines that most of us ignored as a nuisance 50 to 70 years ago, are now great stalwart pines and during the World's War, the Woodman's axe and saw and the portable steam saw mills converted millions of feet of high priced choice pine lumber into cash. I think that nearly every land owner in West Fryeburg shared in the golden harvest that bulked their pocket books and swelled their bank accounts with clean honest money.

Dean was the youngest of seven children and he and his brother, Dr. John Ballard of Galesburg, Ill., are the only ones now living. When I was a boy it was always a great pleasure for me to visit at the Ballard home. Aunt Susan and Uncle George were kind and jovial people to visit with. She was a fine cook and housekeeper and she lived within about three months of the century mark. At the Boutwell home I did not call, for they were all strangers to me. Five years ago I called and asked permission to pick blueberries in Mr. Hill's pasture on shares. I filled two three quart pails, one for David Hill and one for myself, and that was all the berries I got that year except a few down in Dean Ballard's pasture.

At the Old Colby Homestead I did not call as the owners Mr. and Mrs. David Hill had both gone home and the place was in the hands of strangers. My mother was born there in 1808. I remember my grandfather and mother Colby well. After my father's death in 1848 they visited at our house at Swan's Falls for several days. One day mother had come visiting, and-mama made a rice pudding with raisins in it, which I have always claimed was the best pudding that I ever ate. One morning my grandfather sent me across the road to Mr. Swan's for a plug of tobacco which he had sent to me. I tucked the plug into my jacket pocket and returned and delivered it, then fished out of my pocket a leaf of tobacco, which I proceeded to chew and swallow, with the result that I soon have up Jonah. That was my last chew of tobacco. The two extremes meet but with different results. Pudding still by favorite dish, but tobacco I loathe. The old folks were getting old and feeble and grandmother only lived a year or two longer.

When I was about six years old my mother married again and we went to Lovell Center to live among the Grandsons. I visited her once there. When seven or eight years old I visited him at his home with Uncle Jim Colby and Aunt Mary at West Fryeburg. I remember of staying there two nights. There was a boy about my age with whom I slept; grandfather had a room by himself where he ate and slept and stayed most of the time. He asked me each night if I would not sleep with him, I wanted to and promised that I would, but when bed time came Aunt Mary sent me to sleep with the other boy. The poor old man was lonely and I have always regretted that I was not allowed to share his bed for those two nights.

My mother had four sisters and one brother all born on Colby farm; James who married Mary Sterling and had the home farm and cared for his father and mother in their declining years; Mary who married John Heath of Green Hill, Maine, and had Moses Sawyer, the son who married James Kelley of Conway, and Fryeburg, and Betsy who married John McMullen of the village. They all grew up, married and lived all their lives near the old home nest and are buried "neath the sacred soil of their beloved home land." With the death of Albert Colby I believe that the last descendant of my mother's family by the name of Colby has passed away.

I visited the West Fryeburg Cemetery several times. It is cared for in a way I think by the town. A substantial iron fence is built along the front, and men are hired every fall to mow and remove the grass and weeds from the grounds. Some of the grave stones that were poorly set have fallen and lay flat upon the ground, and in spots the grounds are poorly cared for. In the Colby plot in the cemetery are buried four generations of the Colbys, Robert, James and Albert Colby and their wives and Albert's son, James. I think that Albert had prepared and set while living his own and his first wife's headstones, and also an extra head stone with the names of members of the family who had no head stones, but he made one mistake. He either set out or left in the center of his plot a pine tree, whose low down spreading top completely shades the plot, and the marble tombstones standing in the shade are so stained with mildew as to be almost illegible. On one of my visits to Maine some years ago I visited with Mr. and Mrs. Hill, near the center of the plot a pine tree, whose low down spreading top completely shades the plot, and the marble tombstones standing in the shade are so stained with mildew as to be almost illegible. On one of my visits to Maine some years ago I visited with Mr. and Mrs. Hill, near the center of the plot a pine tree, whose low down spreading top completely shades the plot, and the marble tombstones standing in the shade are so stained with mildew as to be almost illegible. On one of my visits to Maine some years ago I visited with Mr. and Mrs. Hill, near the center of the plot a pine tree, whose low down spreading top completely shades the plot, and the marble tombstones standing in the shade are so stained with mildew as to be almost illegible.

In the West Fryeburg Cemetery more than 30 of my kin are laid away, 17 of the Colby kin, and of the Tribe of Abraham 15 which includes my father and mother, two half brothers, and two half sisters and several of their grown up children. The Hutchins, Andrews, Hardy and Haley Annex to the Cemetery is nicely fenced and well cared for and well supplied with a high grade monument. Before leaving this part of my story I would like to quote from a little book published by Albert Colby in 1884 entitled "Incidents in My Life, My Birthplace and my Forefathers." "I was born in Fryeburg, Oxford County, Maine, Friday morning, January 12, 1827. My birthplace was only a few rods from the New Hampshire State line and a part of my father's land was in New Hampshire and for months together I spent my days in New Hampshire, my nights in Maine. God made the two states one; and the artificial line made by man, which divides Conway, N. H. from Fryeburg, Maine, was once supposed to be several miles west of its present location and many of the leading citizens of Fryeburg, early history really lived in Conway, N. H. Portland, Maine is the natural seaport of the greater part of New Hampshire, and if the long hoped for millennium ever comes, artificial boundaries, human laws, and all taxes will be abolished and Gods Will then shall be done 'on earth as in Heaven;' for if all men were true Christians, no human laws or taxes would be needed, but voluntary contributions would supply all the wants of society. The White Mountains are said to be in New Hampshire and their highest summits are in that state, but their base extends far into the State of Maine, and the rivers Saco and Androscoggin carry the larger part of the water that falls on those mountains through the state of Maine into the ocean. Fryeburg and Conway and the adjacent towns south of the White Mountains were originally known by the Indian name of Pequawket and owned and occupied by a powerful tribe of the same name, of which Pugs was the last noted chief, who died fighting for his birthright in the famous battle called Lovell's fight A. D. 1725. No place on earth excels in beauty the land of the Pequawket—the home of my Scotch ancestors—the place of my birth.

"My father, James Colby and my mother, Mary Sterling were married in Conway, N. H. by Rev. Nathaniel Porter, D. D. Oct. 2nd, 1823. I was the second of five children all now living. My earliest remembrance is of Revolutionary Heroes. Our home was surrounded by soldiers of the American Revolution. Our nearest neighbor was Cap. Nathaniel Hutchins, a captain in the war for the Independence of our country, and a lieutenant in the previous French war, and when the war of 1812 broke out, he had a major's commission sent him, but being bowed with the infirmities of old age, and unable again to participate in the 'sweet madness of battle' he sat down and wept with an exceeding bitter cry like that of his lost blessing. His granddaughter Matilda who most frequently cared for the wants of his declining years, was a noble maiden when I was a child and she was one of my special patron saints. I remember her and my father's two youngest sisters, Betsy and Hannah as three angels always doing good; and I never heard any one of them speak a word upon any subject that I would have changed and I loved them better than any other person living except my mother. Matilda Hutchins gave me the first present I ever remember receiving and she taught me to speak pieces and to write for Jackson." She and my mother were always intimate friends and I used to call her "Aunt Tilda." I was taught to call all Revolutionary soldiers "Grand-sire" and Grand-sire Petee, Grand-sire Cross, Knight, Walker, Heath etc, are still fresh in my memory. My ancestors were mostly Scotch and I can trace them back to Scotland and find their former homes and similar names there still. Matilda Hutchins used to tell me stories of William Wallace and King Robert Bruce and she used to teach me to hate the English, but I have since learned to love at least many of them.

Where are the scholars that went with me to the first school I ever attended?—and the school-master, where is he? Directly opposite the school-house lived David Hardy, and he sent four scholars, David Jr., James, Stephen and Emily, but "Uncle David and Aunt Juda" and the four scholars have been dead for more than twenty years. Next below the school-house lived Jonathan Shirley. His son Mason, was our school-master. He was born with only one hand, and was employed for several seasons, partly out of sympathy. He was a good fellow, full of fun and very fond of snapping boys' tails. He was not only schoolmaster, but Methodist minister, and a Thomsonian doctor and he sometimes threatened bad boys with a "lobelia emetic." His youngest brother Jonathan and two sisters were scholars, but "Uncle Jonathan and Aunt Hitty," and the schoolmaster and three scholars have all been dead for 30 years. The next house was my father's. Old age took him to the better world only last year. Next lived Henry Dearborn Hutchins and he sent three scholars, Freeman, Thomas and Melitabear. Thomas only is living but Freeman—dear Freeman—who used to carry me in his arms across the big drifts filled a strangers grave some forty years ago. But I have not space to give a full necrology of our school."

But to continue with my story. Further on down the road from the old Colby farm I met my old school-mate James Hardy and he and several schoolmates with him. Like all other men-folks he was busy with his hay. With his faithful well trained horse to run the hay fork, he does all his haying alone and is independent of the hired man. In the Old Hutchins neighborhood all are strangers to me now. In the farm mansion where Cap. Henry Hutchins lived and where three salt-worms, Freeman, Henry and Ward grew to manhood, also Pascal, strangers now abide and their names are engraved on the fine monument in the nearby Cemetery. John the popular Post Master at the village is the only one of the family that I have found any trace of. At the Willis Farrington place I had several pleasant visits. His family consists of his wife Callista, Nee Andrews and his mother. They have a fine home and a productive farm. They had a fine named red raspberry patch which I greatly enjoyed. Callista is her father's daughter and has charge of his fine auto and I enjoyed some pleasant trips with the family.

At the Elmer Walker home I enjoyed several pleasant visits. Mrs. Walker, nee Emma Ballard, was keeping summer boarders, while Elmer and his wife were in the hay field. They have a fine interval farm and a fine home. This ends my West Fryeburg story, and my next will take in Chatham, Green Hill and Flag End Street.

My cousin Isaac S. Andrews of Atlantic, Iowa sent me a copy of an Atlantic paper from which I copy the following item: "C. A. Ramasson of Glendive, Montana, former Atlantic real estate dealer has been nominated by President Harding to be internal collector of internal revenue for Montana. Confirmation by the senate is expected in a few days. Mr. Ramasson who is widely known in this community was at no time a candidate for the position. The official residence of the collector is at Helena. Ramasson is a former state senator and editor of the Dawson County Review of Glendive. He is a son-in-law of Mr. I. S. Andrews, who lives north of Atlantic." I. S. Andrews (Ike) was a former Lovell Center boy. A few days ago I received a letter from Mrs. Etta H. Osgood of Stone Harbor, N. J. from which I take the following extracts which will be of interest to some of your Fryeburg and Conway readers. "A letter from Bell Andrews, Exira, Iowa, tells me that Al had a stroke of apoplexy, Nov. 4th, right side paralyzed for a time. Is getting able to walk and his mind has cleared. Nathan had a tree fall on him and the woods and is just able to walk. Albert referred to his brother of Hon. John Andrews of Conway N. H. and Nathan is a cousin son of William Andrews formerly of Lovell. They are on my visiting card and I always hunt them up when I go that way.

This is not his birthday and I am feeling fine. Almost a blizzard is raging outside—Joseph Andrews, Pittsburg.

Genuine reductions that are unquestionably real, and in most instances beyond any reasonable expectations. But it is our custom to hold such a sale once each year and this possibly contributes very much to the fact that no unseasonable or long-time carried stocks are ever in evidence here.

We venture to predict that this will be a very popular event. It will be an absolute merchandise round-up of all lots of merchandise after inventory brought together, including quantities of staple all year round merchandise marked at very attractive low prices.

The time for taking advantage of this extremely important sale will be short. It will be necessary for prompt action if merchandise of High Merit is to be secured at a REDUCTION of 25, 33 1-3, to 50 per cent. If in need of Dry Goods or Dry Goods Apparel, you should take advantage of these 3 days' Sale Prices.

Annual Clearance Sale

presents such a large number of unusual trade opportunities that it is exceedingly difficult to specialize or select any particular feature that seems more important than another.

We feel, however, that special stress may be placed upon the advisability of prompt action in the piece goods department.

Browning Club Banquet

Monday evening, Jan. 23, the Browning Reading Club met at the home of Miss Nellie Andrews for the social time of the year. Supper was served at 6:45 in charge of the program committee, Miss Andrews and Mrs. Lena Andrews. Twenty-three were seated at the tables, which were loaded with good things. The place cards were in the shape of a rose, given by Mrs. George Andrews of Boston.

While seated at the tables the roll call was responded to with original sayings, many in rhyme. The names of the songs that each one represented were guessed. "Old Black Joe" was there in costume. There were several guessing contests much enjoyed but the spring poetry composed by each one caused the most laughter. It was a red letter evening in the club's calendar.

Mrs. Clara Hayden, observed her 93rd birthday Wednesday with a large family gathering. This event has been the occasion for an annual reunion with personal congratulations, and post cards from friends far and near. The annual dinner was served and the remainder of the day given to sociability and good cheer. Among the out of town relatives present were Frank P. Knights and his private secretary, Harry Purington, Mrs. Annie H. Knights, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Knights, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hayden, all from Manchester, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. Judson Dean. Mrs. Hayden's health is good and she is remarkably active.

Norway Grange

The Grange will have one of their picnic dinners Saturday. All not solicited from are to carry pastry. The Lecturer asked every member who plays a musical instrument to bring the same and help to furnish music for the program.

Prof. Edward Brown will give a short talk on agricultural projects.

Agricultural Club Gathering

Members of the Agricultural class at the high school and instructor, Prof. Edward H. Brown held a social get-together Saturday evening, which was a success. The affair started with a basket ball game in the gym, when the freshmen and sophomores brushed against the juniors and seniors. A fiery contest ensued with Tim Gammon as referee. Both Aggie squads grabbed churn, hay toddlers, dump carts and other available farming instruments and smashed over plowed ground like run away oxen. When the crops were harvested the gleanings showed 14 to 12 in favor of the freshmen. Spectators say the game went like gathering the last load of hay before a thunder shower. No personal fouls were called and Tim let down the bars against the stampede. The winners were E. Cummings, r. f., H. Nevers, l. f.; A. Packard, r. g. On the losing end were E. Brown, r. f., H. Thurston, r. g. W. Knightly, l. f., C. Deoster, r. g., L. Richardson, l. g.

Adjourning to the agricultural rooms, Pres. Asa Packard called the business meeting to order and debate brought out the comparative merits or failings of Holsteins and Jerseys. Warren Knightly defended the black and white puffs and George Young gave an eloquent appeal for the Jerseys. Each disputant was limited to five minutes. E. B. Watson appeared in rebuttal against Knightly and E. Cummings endeavored to refute George Young's statements. After a general discussion the judges decided in favor of the Holsteins by eight points.

Refreshments including pop corn, peanuts, a variety of candy and apples were served, the remainder of the evening being given to playing "Jenkins". Poultry selected from Philip Stone's flock went under observation at the rooms Wednesday. As a part of the days work each student judged the birds for utility qualities, comprising health, vigor, vitality, appearance, action, weight, color and type. Unknown to the class Prof. Brown smuggled in a capon that confused the embryo poultry magistrates until the joke filtered through.

The 140 egg incubator is being overhauled for the spring hatch. Another machine to be furnished by a student will give a 380 egg capacity total. Eggs are to be furnished by the class when the time arrives. As a part of the shopwork the boys will build a chicken house and scratch yard to be set up near a sunny window in the class room. When the chicks pip, feeding experiments will be conducted and their development observed.

TAXATION AND HIGH COST OF LIVING

The Middle West is kicking at Pennsylvania freight rates on steel. It is the custom of the steel mills at Pittsburgh of charging western consumers of steel products in addition to the market price a charge for "freight." Freight to the point of consumption, of $7.60 a ton in Chicago above the price of steel at Gary, Indiana. At Duluth, Minn. this overcharge amounts to $13.27 a ton and varies more or less throughout the Middle West. This charge for freight never paid to the carriers is estimated to take out of the pockets of the people in all branches of business and add to the wealth of profiteer steel manufacturers, a sum equal to $75,000,000 a year. Is it any wonder that there is a "farmer's bloc" in both branches of Congress. How long will people stand to be robbed and cheated? It is going to be a hard road to travel evidently before the country gets back to normal conditions.

Representatives of all the interests of the country should have met soon after the war closed and adopted a standard scale of wages, prices, freight rates, etc. Business then might have gone ahead without shock. Now who is wise enough to tell us when this profiteer, cutthroat and skinning of the consumer, period will end.

The Protective Tariff or American System, as advocated by its founders, Henry Clay, Horace Greider and others was based on the principle that by putting a tariff on foreign goods brought into this country, industries would multiply here to such an extent, and create such competition as to bring down prices to reasonable figures—lower even than they would be if foreign manufacturers controlled our markets. But this principle does not apply to those products which are controlled both in quantity and price by great combinations. All the tariffs in the world would not create competition, nor lower prices. They would simply allow by law the profiteers to get enormously rich by skimming the consumer. The steel trust and the Coal Trust are examples of such infamous combinations, and the list might be extended ad infinitum. Relief will come to a long suffering people if Congress does not pass any tariff laws to grant monopolies to steel, coal and other profiteers, for the cheap products of Europe will come in to prevent their further sucking the life-blood of the consumer. The country will never get back to normal conditions, and normal prices till the reign of the profiteers comes to an end.

Who is there today under present conditions in the industries or trades, that is worth a dollar an hour, or who is able to pay such prices? It is unreasonable and excessive. There is no justice in it, and no excuse for it.—Comment.

To those who believe in a Special Providence, there seems to have been in the outcome of recent wars, specially for the United States, results that have taken all the glint out of the event. It was not so in the war of the Rebellion. At the close of that struggle, four millions of slaves had been freed and it was established that our government had power by the Constitution to protect itself. One million of men on both sides had been sacrificed. Half a million more had been disabled for life. But the lands of the Great West were opened up for farm homes, the damages caused by the war were speedily repaired and for thirty-five years, there was unexampled prosperity. The profiteers had not then appeared.

On the heels of the Spanish war, where our arms on land and sea had met with small loss of life and a success rarely attained in any war, having acquired valuable islands in the Pacific and in the Gulf of Mexico and Caribbean sea, there was raised the cry of "embalmed beef" furnished the soldiers by sordid contractors and the glory of victory died. Again in the World War, when by the sacrifices of the people, four millions of the best blood of the young manhood of the country was sent into the conflict, whereby nearly half a million were lost or disabled, the survivors returned with the eagles of victory on their standards and covered with immortal glory, the profiteers like a carrion buzzard or a jackal still plied his nefarious work, which silenced the acclamations of victory and took the joy all out of life. Perhaps it was the purpose of an all-wise Providence to thus surely make men sick of war. That is the sole redeeming quality he can plead to save himself from everlasting opprobrium.—Comment.

Living prices in five great cities of the country, New York, Chicago, Detroit, Washington and Philadelphia are still seventy-eight per cent above what they were in 1914.—News Item.

Another Cut in Gasoline Price

Another drop of 1 cent a gallon in the price of gasoline making the second, has gone into effect in Boston and New England, it was reported. The latest cut brings the wholesale price down to 26 cents. The retail price is about 2 cents a gallon higher.

The drop brings the price down to the level prevailing in New York. As prices in New York generally average a cent lower than here, it is likely an additional cut in New York will be made.—Boston News Item.

Dr. True's Elixir

The True Family Laxative

Mothers with their home worries are often irregular at meals—have no appetite—are often restless at night—are tired and are troubled with distressed stomachs—need a prompt, pure herb laxative, and such is Dr. True's Elixir, the True Family Laxative. The Business man is apt to neglect his health; may eat too hurriedly and at irregular hours. Often this puts the bowels out of order—they fail to function properly—causing fretfulness, taking away the appetite, slowing down the active mind. To relieve these conditions, have a bottle of Dr. True's Elixir handy. Use it as others have done during the past 70 years.

When the children are out of sight they often eat too many sweets or rich foods. This brings on constipation in many cases. Watch these symptoms: Constipation, sour stomach, cramps, eye heavy and dull, bad breath, restlessness, and biliousness. These are common to both children and grown-ups and call for prompt use of a laxative. To properly cleanse and purify the intestinal tract which is essential to good health; to ward off and relieve constipation and its attending evils use the True Family Laxative, Dr. True's Elixir. 40c, 60c, $1.20.

Battery Dope

There are a lot of places offering to give your battery a fresh start in life by putting "dope" in it.

As a matter of fact there isn't any kind of dope made that will take the place of recharging and proper care.

If your battery does really need acid it is far cheaper and safer to come to Battery Headquarters to have it put in. Whether your battery is a Willard or not, bring it to us—if it can be done at a saving to you, we'll set it on its feet in the quickest possible time.

Boston. Sixty-three were present, all residing in Massachusetts, but a number of relatives in Boston, Waltham and other cities.

William Kneeland has left a job with the crew building the Opera House block as South Paris and has employment in the yard at Mason Manufacturing Co.

The auto bus made trips about on schedule during the past cold and drifted spell. A patrol between the Paris line and Hicks Crossing Monday kept the loose snow from drifting and made auto mobiling fairly easy. No cars are venturing into the rural districts. Woodsmen claim snow in the timbers is about two and a-half feet deep.

Bert Weston: "Some weather at Bolsters Mills, 40 below zero at Gays store Tuesday morning. I doubted it until my own eyes fastened on the mercury scarcely out of the bulb."

Ben Bicknell has a hunch about going into the fish business. An attractive stock of frozen pickerel will be put up at auction for a starter according to the grocery store chair warmers. It is also reported goldfish will be dressed to suit the trade.

Monday was the most disagreeable day thus far with the mercury below zero all day and a howling Northwest wind driving the cold into every crevice. The cold spell of moderate weather. Temperatures dropped some twenty-five degrees between Sunday noon and evening, with the wind increasing in violence as the mercury contracted. Snow two inches of feather weight snow got mixed in it and made drifts in the highways. Monday morning temperature was 8 and more below zero, about zero at noon and 10 below early in the evening. Ten and more below was recorded Tuesday morning with the wind more gentle.

Harold C. Perham of West Paris was in town Friday in consultation with the local advisory board of Boy Scouts. A meeting of the Oxford County Council was held in the afternoon at Engine Hall, South Paris.

Harry V. Cole passed Sunday at the Maine Eye and Ear Infirmary at Portland where his wife is gaining rapidly from a surgical operation.

Ted Young has been having a severe cold and confined to his room. Mr. Hagar handled the auto bus during his absence.

with an attendance of 38 and scored 32, 150 points. Each side presented a lively program.

and will be an all day session. Some of the State Grange officers are expected.

"War should be outlawed the same as dueling," is the subject of an interesting pamphlet sent out from Chicago.

This can easily be done when the people who make up the nations see it that way.
War, like boot-legging isn't considered a crime. When it is, it will be stopped.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

Read This Letter from Mrs.
W. S. Hughes

Greenville, Del.—"I was under the impression that my eldest daughter had some internal trouble as ever since the first time her sickness appeared she had to go to bed and even had to quit school once for a week. I always take Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound myself so I gave it to her and she has received great benefit from it.
You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish, as I cannot say too much about what your medicine has done for me and for my daughter."—Mrs. Wm. S. HUGHES, Greenville, Delaware.

Mothers and oftentimes grandmothers have taken and have learned the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So they recommend the medicine to others.

The best test of any medicine is what it has done for others. For nearly fifty years we have published letters from mothers, daughters, and women, young and old, recommending the Vegetable Compound. They know what it did for them and are glad to tell others. In your own neighborhood are women who know of its great value.

Mothers—daughters, why not try it?

SOUTH RUMFORD

Eleanor and Ruth, the little daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cummings have been very ill the last week.

Arthur Putnam carried a large party of young people from the Falls, to the bon-houses near Rumford Center, last Sunday where they enjoyed the day with snow-shoeing, skiing and tobogganing.
The return home at night in the gale was part of the fun.

Earl Spaulding has been helping care for his father, Daniel Spaulding in Mexico who passed away Sunday, Jan. 22 after a long illness with Bright's disease and complications. His age was 76 years.
Everyone regrets the resignation of Arthur Lane from the R. F. D. mail route.
He has given perfect satisfaction for sixteen years.

Nine candidates have taken the examination for mail carrier on R. F. D. Mrs.
Arthur Lane who has been substitute is on the route until the new carrier gets his appointment, and no day is too cold or stormy for her to make the whole trip.
George Thurston formerly from this neighborhood is very ill with stomach trouble at the home of his brother-in-law, Harbert Blake in Virginia where he is boarding. Since the death of his wife a few weeks ago.

BRIDGTON SUBURBS

The gale of Jan. 22 was a lively one.
Many sizeable snow drifts appeared on the following Monday. The Rio school team was unable to get through to the Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Briggs of Lovell visited at Howard Morrison's Sunday; the terrific gale was with them on their ride home.

Loten Brown recently sold a nice pair of oxen to John Smith of Denmark.

There are several people having colds and rheumatic troubles in the Valley.
Mrs. J. P. Libby was confined to her bed two days last week with neuritis.

Mrs. Stephen Ridlon is improving. Mrs.
Hatch of Lovell is with her.

Will Emerson has been suffering from croup.

Walter Emerson, who cut his foot a short time ago is able to be out of doors.
Gladys Biswell has returned home after a visit with relatives in Lovell.

George Libby, also Lester Ames have pipeless furnaces in their homes, much to the enjoyment of their families.

The many friends of Mr. Clarence Jones who passed away last week at No.
Bridgton feel that the town of Sweden, his home place, has lost a much respected citizen. He was a man of sterling character, a member of the Congregational church and a very industrious and up-to-date farmer. The Black Mt. friends deeply feel the loss of such people as Mr. and Mrs. Jones from the neighborhood. Mrs. Jones, at present is with her sister, Mrs. George Marr.

BRYANT'S POND

Fraternal Lodge, K. or P. held its annual installation and banquet on Monday evening, Jan. 24th. Installing officer Nelson was unable to be present and the service was conducted by A. M. Chase, Past Chancellor. Dannie M. Bryant was installed as Chancellor.

Lesmore Currier was in Portland Sunday to visit Mrs. Currier who is an inmate of the hospital there. She is improving since the operation and is to return home in a few days.

The Uniform Rank are getting in practice for the drill and ball to be given March 4th.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Davis are staying for the winter at the Bartlett house in Locke's Mills. Mr. Davis is employed by the Tibbetts Wood Co.

Harry Howe is cutting hemlock and spruce on the Mann lot near the Locke's Mills road. It will be landed in Mann's mill yard at the upper end of the village.

The Mexico basket ball team failed to materialize Saturday evening for a return game with Woodstock High, and West Paris town team came up to fill in. Woodstock team has only been defeated once for the season and that was with Berlin and played out of the State.

DOES IT PAY TO ADVERTISE

One of the principle reasons why the United States has come to the forefront in world affairs is because of its publicity methods, local, state, national, and international. The value of this was demonstrated in the war as never before; and the high ideals with which the average soldier was imbued undoubtedly had their foundation in the inspiring educational campaign engineered by the United States government through voice, word and picture.

What is good from a national viewpoint can undoubtedly be applied to modern business matters; and there can be no surer way to end the slump in trade than by proper publicity methods. If you fail to advertise is lost; as is amply proved by the fact that the biggest firms in the country are the largest advertisers.

EAST HIRAM.

Hon. Llewellyn A. Wadsworth -
After a brief illness on Sunday, January first Hon. Llewellyn A. Wadsworth of Hiram passed away. He was born in the town of Hiram some over eighty years ago and there he made his life abode.
His wife, nee Annetta Clemons passed beyond some ten years ago and since her death he has resided with his son Eli, their only issue.

Mr. Wadsworth was one of those who did not seek fame and achievement for himself alone but was ever ready and willing to lend a helping hand to others.
However, he was honored many times with public office. He represented his district in the legislature; served his town as superintendent of schools and selectman for many years; and was one of the oldest Trial Justices and Notaries in the state. He never was admitted to the bar, nevertheless he was fully as conversant with the best legal authorities as many of our barristers and equal, if not superior to some, in a repertore.
His retentive memory and Yankee wit have always been a source of pleasure to his many friends and admirers, both at public and private gatherings where he was wont to entertain and here he will be much missed.

Mr. Wadsworth has expressed his regret many times to the writer that he had not devoted his whole time to the law.
Perhaps his most natural gift, and one which he had cultivated to some extent, was that of a poet, and we should refer to those beautiful lines, the product of his pen, and especially those written of departed friends. He sprang from a family of poets, being direct descendant of Gen. Peleg Wadsworth, the grandfather of Poet Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, and our deceased friend's latest picture very much resembles the poet himself.

Mr. Wadsworth in 1914 was chosen to write a poem and historical sketch for the Centennial Anniversary of the town of Hiram which is now a permanent monument to his memory. For many years he has been a worthy member of the Congregational church and of the fraternal orders Masonic and Pythian. He was a life long republican and everybody's friend. Long may his Christian life, of a kind and loving husband and father, a good and trustworthy neighbor and an honorable and upright citizen, be cherished in our memories.

"One more I mis'd him on the 'custom'd' hill,
Along the heath, and near his favorite tree;
Another came, not yet beside the hill,
'Twas up the road we saw him he-
"The next, with dirges due in sad array Slow thro' the church-way path we saw him he-Approach and read (for thou can't read), the lay, Grav'd on the stone beneath you aged there."
"Large was his bounty, and his soul sincere;
Heaven did a recompense as largely send;
He gave to misery all he had, a tear,
He gained from Heaven, 'twas all he wished a friend."
